Hello Mr. Dar,

My name is Shireen Shakouri and I am following up on Reproaction's letter sent to you on 17 May of this year. My organization reached out to you in May regarding your website hosting profiles and job postings for anti-abortion groups like SBA Pro-Life America, and we remain concerned that the group has a continued presence on your site.

Just last week, SBA Pro -Life America posted another job on your site, despite the dangerous rhetoric they continue to spout and the clear divergence between the harmful world they are trying to build, and the purportedly idealistic goals of your company. SBA Pro-Life America remains at the forefront of the movement pushing for a national abortion ban and for abortion to be treated as if it were murder, which would enact tremendous harm to women, families, and anyone with capacity for pregnancy, and likely send many to jail.

SBA Pro-Life America's mission and beliefs are in direct contradiction with your values statement which espouses your intention to uplift voices with "ideas and solutions for a more equitable world". SBA Pro-Life America is firmly in the business of curtailing human rights and making an equitable world less achievable. We remain hopeful that anti-abortion hate will be disallowed from Idealist in the future. We are still asking that you take the necessary steps to remove their organization profile and block their future job postings from your website.

As a direct action organization, we are primed to not only educate about the harms of anti-abortion actors, but to spark fact-based action and consciousness-raising amongst the general public against enablers of anti-abortion extremism. If you require more information about this organization or the issue of anti-abortion groups taking advantage of technology platforms – particularly those with social impact goals – I would be glad to speak with you further.

Sincerely,

Shireen Shakouri
Deputy Director, Reproaction
